Excerpt: . ing a grace which lies beyond all thought of the larger world. (to Mrs. Fields) Little Compton, R. I., 8 September, 1880. Dear Mrs. Fields, -- This is not a land where it is easy to write letters. I can t help being idle, except in thought, and I think I never knew so quiet a country. It is all like the places one goes to on the way to sleep. There are n t any high hills, but you look over the fields which are so like moors, and you look and look, and there is nothing you have to stop and wonder about, the big roundheaded windmills are all still, and today is a grey day which can t make up its mind to take the trouble to rain, and here we are sitting by the fireplace, and I was busy...
