Stark House Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 278 pages. Dimensions: 8.4in. x 5.5in. x 0.7in. KITTEN WITH A WHIP You could always blame it on the heat. . . . David Patton wakes to a real San Diego scorcher. His wife Virginia and daughter Katie are visiting his mother-in-law in San Francisco, giving him a wild sense of freedom for the weekend. What he doesnt expect this overheated morning is to find a teenage runaway rummaging through his daughters bedroom. Jody Drew is just 17 but already knows the power she has over men. David tries to be the gentleman and give her the break shes never had but Jody doesnt want Davids help-- she wants David. Not only him, but his home, his money, and a chance to kick back at life. She knows the buttons to push to keep him in line and shes not afraid to use them. Jodys got the whip and David is headed for a weekend in Hell. KISS HER GOODBYE The first time it happens they are living in Oregon: she hits a kid with a rake when he tries to get fresh. The next time is in Bakersfield, and its even worse. Something went on, because when Ed gets home, Emily has blood on her clothes that isnt hers. Now theyre on the run and all Ed wants to do is settle down and keep his sister safe. But it isnt easy when Emily is mentally only a child, with a body that is all woman. Headed East, they stop in the town of Jimmock, looking for a new home. Thats when they meet Tubbs, a large man with an even larger heart. . . and Marge, looking for something maybe only Ed can give her. And theres Cory, who is just looking...
